Save These Dates!

Thursday, August 6

4:00–5:00 p.m. Create with Me! Forest Fairy Doors. Charleston Doorway, by Anthony Thieme, has welcomed art lovers into the impressionism gallery for decades. Paint a tiny door to place at the base of a tree in your yard to welcome fairies into a magical realm of your imagination. Members, FREE; nonmembers, $5. For kids, toddler to tween. Advance registration required.

Friday, August 7

Noon. Films on Friday: John Paul Jones (1959). Based on the story "Nor'wester," by Clements Ripley, and starring Robert Stack, Marisa Pavan, Charles Coburn, and Bette Davis, this rousing adventure manages to squeeze every notable historical figure of the Revolutionary War into one movie. FREE.

Sunday, August 23

2:00 p.m. Music at the Morris: Gwen Hughes. This Atlanta-based vocalist, songwriter, and actress sings fresh takes on jazz, soul, and pop favorites, as well as original tunes. She has toured all over the world, from Paris to Nairobi. FREE. Funded by the Cleon W. Mauldin Foundation.
